The names and addresses of Thomas' Industrial Media mailing lists which are furnished to you, remain the property of Thomas Industrial Media and each time they are supplied are to be used by you for the purposes of a single, one time mailing.

No names or addresses in the list will be copied, reused, sold, or transferred by you nor will you permit any other person or company to use the list or any names or addresses therein. You will not disclose any of the names or addresses to third parties or other individuals outside of your company.

You will control the use and distribution of the list among your employees in order to prevent any duplication or unauthorised use or disclosure and will notify us promptly after the mailing.

You understand that the lists rented are monitored to prevent unauthorised use by seeding them with decoy names.

If you or any person or company to whom you have given access to the lists shall disclose, use or copy them contrary to the provisions of this agreement, you will be unconditionally liable for any damage suffered by us and all costs and expenses incidental to any related litigation.
